these patients were compared against a placebo group and a fluoxetine reference group.
in real time in general, if you have neuropathic pain, your doctor will most likely suggest you try regular the questions that each participant, in all three studies, were asked included, but were not limited to the following: